The e-newsletter of the Stuart Rossiter Trust

No.11 February - March 2012

Forthcoming Events

The Royal Mail will be changing their prices in April 2012. The price increases (for such they surely will be) have to be approved by the regulatory body and the decision is not expected until late March. The Stuart Rossiter Trust will review and revise our Post + Packing charges when prices are known.

The obvious advice is Order Now before the postage cost goes up.

York Stamp Fair

The SRT will have a table at this well established and popular event 20th – 21st July 2012, at the Grandstand at York Racecourse. See:

www.stampshows.net

A stock of our newer titles will be available there, if you wish to see any of our older titles at York please contact the Trust via our webmaster

nhrossitertrust@hotmail.co.uk

We will also be at Leeds Stamp Fair at Pudsey Civic Hall 16/17 November

The Stuart Rossiter Memorial Lecture will be held on Friday 2nd November 2012. The speaker will be Hugh Feldman, the subject “Researching Postal History” a topic which should interest all Postal Historians. Hugh is well known through his work with ABPS and the PHS, he is also the author of our book of the month.

Full details of how to reserve your Free non transferrable ticket will be in the next SRT e-newsletter.

Book of the Month

LETTER RECEIVERS OF LONDON 1652 - 1857. A history of their offices and handstamps within the General, Penny and Twopenny Posts by Hugh Feldman

The definitive study of the subject; this monumental work contains approaching 1000 pages. The core is an alphabetical list of the Receiving Houses, showing their exact locations, accompanied by a map of the period, details of the Receiver, illustrations of the handstamps including examples of letters, and a considerable amount of supplementary information of interest to the local and social historian as well as the serious postal historian.

The workings of the post during the period are explained in a 50 page introduction and there are also over 100 pages of annexes providing additional information.

900+ pages, B/W illustrations

Cover binding: Hardbound in two volumes with slipcase with foldout maps in rear pocket.

Publication date : 1998

Price £45.00 + postage & packing

Edited by Susan McEwen.
